

WHISTLEBLOWER POLICY

Approved by the Board on 17 December 2019

1. Overview

Elixinol Global Limited (Group) is committed to fostering a culture of compliance, ethical behaviour and good corporate governance. The Group values teamwork, respect and integrity and wishes to encourage a culture where any officer, employee or contractor does not suffer detriment because of speaking up about potential misconduct concerns. This Whistleblower Policy (Policy) has been adopted to provide a safe and confidential environment for people to raise any such concerns without fear of reprisal.

This Policy sets out:

- when you will be protected for speaking up about misconduct;
- the protections that may be provided to you if you speak up; and
- how disclosures made under this Policy will be handled by the Group.

All officers, employees and contractors of the Group, wherever they are based, must comply with this Policy. Officers and employees of the Group based outside Australia may also be subject to additional local whistleblower requirements in the country in which they are based.

This Policy and our Code of Conduct are available in the Corporate Governance section of the Group's website.

This Policy also protects those who are entitled to whistleblower protection under the Australian whistleblower laws (see section 11 of this Policy).

2. Who is protected under this Policy?

You will be protected under this Policy if:

- you are one of the individuals set out in section 3;
- you disclose information about the type of matters set out in section 4; and
- you disclose that information to one of the persons set out in section 5.

We encourage you to contact the Whistleblower Protection Officer if you have any questions about making a disclosure or this Policy generally.

In some cases, you may wish to obtain independent legal advice:

- before making a disclosure (for example, if you are thinking about making a disclosure to a Member of Parliament or a journalist); or

- if you feel you have suffered detriment because you made a disclosure (including if you wish to seek compensation or remedies in court for potentially detrimental conduct or a failure to protect your identity).

That communication with your legal advisor will also be protected under the Australian whistleblower laws (irrespective of the outcome of that advice).

3. Who can make a disclosure?

You can make a disclosure that qualifies for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws if you are or were:

- an officer or employee of the Group, including permanent, part-time, fixed-term or temporary employees or interns and secondees;
- a supplier of goods and services to the Group (whether paid or unpaid), including their employees (for example, contractors, consultants, service providers and business partners);
- an associate of the Group; or
- a parent, grandparent, child, grandchild, sibling, spouse or dependent of any of those people.

4. What can a disclosure be about?

We encourage people to make disclosures about a broad range of matters. Whilst not all matters will qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws, we will treat all disclosures made under this Policy (except for those that expressly excluded in this Policy) in the same way.

To be protected under the Australian whistleblower laws, you must make an eligible disclosure and must have reasonable grounds for that disclosure. You can still qualify for protection if your disclosure turns out to be incorrect, but you will not be protected if you make a deliberately false disclosure.

Disclosures do not have to be about breaking the law. Eligible disclosures can be about misconduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances that you have reasonable grounds to suspect has occurred or is occurring in relation to the Group.

Some examples of matters that are eligible disclosures are:

- conduct that amounts to a criminal offence or contravention of the Corporations Act or Australian Securities and Investments Commission Act 2001 (Cth);
- conduct that is a Commonwealth criminal offence punishable by more than 12 months imprisonment;
- illegal conduct, such as fraud, theft, corruption, bribery, criminal damage to property or breaches of work health and safety laws;
- negligence, default, breach of trust and breach of duty;
- an activity that poses a significant risk to public safety, people, property, operations or the environment (irrespective of whether it involves a breach of law);
- any conduct that may indicate a systemic issue in relation to the Group;

- any business behaviours and practices that may cause consumer harm;
- conduct that represents a danger to the public or the financial system;
- conduct that represents a significant risk to the stability of or confidence in the financial system (irrespective of whether it involves a breach of law);
- conduct that is damaging to the Group's financial position or reputation;
- misconduct in relation to the Group's tax affairs;
- other misconduct concerning corporate governance, accounting or audit matters; or
- engaging in or threatening to engage in detrimental conduct against a person who has made a disclosure or is believed or suspected to have made, or be planning to make, a disclosure.

The Group also encourages you to make disclosures about the following matters. Whilst these disclosures are not protected under the Australian whistleblower laws, they will be treated in the same way under this Policy:

- improper, unethical or dishonest conduct, such as:
 - breaches of our policies; or
 - misuse of company assets, conflicts of interest or abuses of authority.

Personal work-related grievances

Disclosures that are about solely personal work-related grievances and do not relate to any detriment or threat of detriment to you are not covered by this Policy and do not qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws.

A personal work-related grievance is a grievance about an individual's employment that have implications only for the individual personally (such as payroll or remuneration issues, promotion decisions and interpersonal conflicts), but do not have any other significant implications for the Group or relate to conduct about an eligible disclosure as referred to above.

However, such a disclosure may still qualify for protection if:

- it is a 'mixed' disclosure – meaning it includes information indicating other misconduct beyond your personal circumstances (for example, widespread bullying or harassment);
- the Group has breached employment or other laws punishable by imprisonment for a period of 12 months or more;
- the Group has engaged in conduct that represents a danger to the public;
- you suffer from or are threatened with, detriment for making a disclosure; or
- you seek legal advice or representation about the operation of the Australian whistleblower laws.

If your disclosure is a solely personal work-related grievance, you should make it in accordance with standard human resources processes.

If you are unsure, we encourage you to speak with your manager or make your disclosure under this Policy.

5. Who can receive a disclosure?

All of the people listed in this section 5 can receive disclosures that qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws. However, we encourage you to make your disclosure to our following dedicated Whistleblower Protection Officer:

Teresa Cleary	General Counsel & Company Secretary Elixinol Global Limited Level 5, 360 Kent Street Sydney, New South Wales, 2000 Australia Email: whistleblower.officer@elixinolglobal.com
----------------------	--

If you prefer, you can instead make a disclosure to the following people:

- a member of the Group's executive leadership team (ELT);
- any other director, officer or senior manager of the Group;
- an internal or external auditor¹ (including a member of an audit team conducting an audit on the Group); or
- The Group's registered tax agent or BAS agent², if the disclosure concerns the Group's tax affairs or the tax affairs of an associate of the Group, or an employee or officer at the Group who has functions or duties relating to its tax affairs and who you consider may be assisted in their role by knowing that information.

6. How can a disclosure be made?

You may make a disclosure at any time to the people identified in section 5 in person, by email, post, or delivered by hand. An example form for making a disclosure is attached to this Policy.

If you make a disclosure from or to an email address within the Group, your email may be accessed by certain people within our IT department in accordance with the Group's policies. If you are concerned about those limited circumstances in which your email might be accessed, you may prefer to make your disclosure verbally or by mail.

You can make your disclosure anonymously (and stay anonymous throughout and after any investigation) and still qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws.

7. Protections for disclosers

The Group handles any disclosures made to it under this Policy to protect disclosers.

7.1 Identity protections

If you make a protected disclosure, it is illegal for anyone to identify you or disclose any information that is likely to lead to you being identified, unless:

¹ The Group's external auditor is Ms Helen Hamilton-James, Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu, Grosvenor Place, 225 George Street, Sydney, NSW, 2000, Australia

² The Group's tax agent is Mr Marc A. Claybon, Crowe LLP, 1801 California Street, Suite 2200, Denver, Colorado, 80202, USA

- any disclosure of information does not include your identity and is reasonably necessary to investigate your disclosure (but all reasonable steps must be taken to reduce the risk that you will be identified from the information);
- it is necessary to obtain legal advice about your disclosure and the whistleblower laws, in which case, we can pass the information on to our lawyers;
- we need to disclose the information to the Australian Federal Police; the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC); the Australian Prudential Regulatory Authority; or the Australian Commissioner of Taxation (ATO), if the disclosure concerns the Group's tax affairs or the tax affairs of an associate of the Group; or
- you consent to that disclosure.

7.2 Confidentiality and secure record keeping

Subject to the exceptions allowed under section 7.1 of this Policy or otherwise by law, the identity of a whistleblower (or information that is likely to lead to their identity becoming known) must be kept confidential at all times during and after the investigation (including in any reporting to the Board or to any persons affected). All persons responsible for or involved in an investigation must take all reasonable steps to reduce the risk that a whistleblower will be identified.

The Group will keep your identity and your disclosure confidential and secure by:

- obscuring your name and identifying features from any internal reporting about your disclosure (unless you agree for your identity to be known);
- limiting access to all paper and electronic documents and materials to those directly involved in managing and investigating the disclosure; and
- ensuring that anyone who is involved in handling and investigating your disclosure is aware of the confidentiality requirements.

7.3 Protection from detriment

The Group is committed to protecting people who make disclosures under this Policy.

No-one at the Group (including any officers, employees or contractors) may cause or threaten any detriment to any person because they think a disclosure has been or might be made under this Policy.

“Detriment” includes (but is not limited to):

- dismissal of an employee;
- injury of an employee in their employment;
- alteration of an employee's position or duties to their disadvantage;
- discrimination, harassment or intimidation;
- harm or injury including psychological harm, damage to property, reputational or financial position; or
- taking action against a person (including any disciplinary action or imposing a liability) for making a disclosure.

However, the Group is entitled to take steps that:

- are reasonably necessary to protect you from detriment (for example, moving you to another office to protect you from detriment if you have made a disclosure about your immediate work area); and
- relate to managing unsatisfactory work performance in line with the Group's performance management framework.

7.4 Protection from civil, criminal and administrative liability

You will also be protected from any of the following in relation to your disclosure:

- civil liability – for example, any legal action against you for breach of an employment contract, duty of confidentiality or another contractual obligation;
- criminal liability – for example, prosecution for unlawfully releasing information or otherwise using your disclosure against you in a prosecution (other than for making a deliberately false disclosure); and
- administrative liability – for example, disciplinary action for making a disclosure.

However, you may be liable for any personal misconduct revealed by your disclosure.

7.5 Compensation and other remedies

You may seek compensation and other remedies through the courts if:

- you suffer loss, damage or injury because of a disclosure; and
- the Group failed to take reasonable precautions and exercise due diligence to prevent detrimental conduct.

7.6 Support and practical protections

The Group has in place processes for protecting, supporting and monitoring the welfare of anyone who makes a disclosure. This includes risk assessment of any potential detriment, work adjustment considerations and support services.

8. Investigations of disclosures under this Policy

When you make a disclosure under this Policy, your disclosure will typically be investigated as follows and by maintaining confidentiality in accordance with section 7.2:

STEP 1	The person who receives your disclosure will provide the information to the Whistleblower Protection Officer (or to the Chairman of the Group or the Group Chief Executive Officer if the disclosure is about the Whistleblower Protection Officer), as soon as practicable, ensuring your identity is protected, unless you have consented otherwise.
STEP 2	The Whistleblower Protection Officer will determine whether your disclosure is covered by this Policy and, if appropriate, appoint an investigator with no personal interest in the matter to conduct an investigation. If required, an external investigator will be appointed to ensure the investigation is handled fairly and independently or where specialist skills or expertise are necessary.

STEP 3	The investigator(s) will conduct the investigation in an objective and fair manner, ensuring that they give any employee who is mentioned in the disclosure an opportunity to respond to the allegations prior to any adverse findings being made against them. Those employees are also entitled to access the support services referred to in section 7.1. If you can be contacted (including through anonymous channels), we will give you regular updates on the status of the investigation as appropriate, with the frequency and timing of such updates depending on the nature of your disclosure. The Group will aim to conclude the investigations within one month of receiving your disclosure. But that time may vary depending on the nature of your disclosure.
STEP 4	The outcome of the investigation will be reported to the Group's board of directors (Board) (protecting your identity, if applicable) and may, if the Whistleblower Protection Officer considers appropriate, be shared with you and any persons affected.

We encourage you to raise any concerns you have about the investigation of your disclosure, your treatment or any aspects of this Policy with the Whistleblower Protection Officer or the person to whom you made your disclosure, and we will consider whether any further steps need to be taken.

9. Board reporting

The Whistleblower Protection Officer must provide the Board or its delegated committee at least quarterly reports on all active whistleblower matters, including information on:

- the number and nature of disclosures made in the last quarter (for example, by who, who to and matter type);
- how disclosures were reported;
- the status of any investigations underway;
- the frequency of communications with disclosers;
- the outcomes of completed investigations and actions taken; and
- the timeframes for responding and investigating disclosures.

The Board or its delegated committee will also be immediately informed of any material incidents reported under this Policy, including any information that may be materially price sensitive in accordance with the Group's Continuous Disclosure Policy.

10. Training

Our Whistleblower Protection Officer and all eligible recipients of disclosures must attend compulsory training organised by the Group on responding appropriately to disclosures made under this Policy.

Our employees must attend any compulsory training on our whistleblower program which will include information on how to make a disclosure, what the disclosure can be about, to whom a disclosure can be made, the protections and support available and when further information or independent legal advice might be sought.

11. How this Policy interacts with whistleblower laws

By making a disclosure in accordance with this Policy, you may be protected under the Australian whistleblower laws if the type of matter you disclose is protected by those laws.

While this Policy principally deals with internal disclosures, the protections afforded by the Australian whistleblower laws (set out in section 7) also include some types of disclosure made to external parties, such as:

- legal representatives, to obtain advice or representation about the Australian whistleblower laws;
- ASIC or the ATO; or
- Members of Parliament or journalists, where you have reasonable grounds to believe that making the further disclosure would be in the public interest or the information concerns a substantial and imminent danger to the health or safety to one or more persons or to the natural environment, but only where prior disclosure has been made to ASIC or the ATO and the Group in certain circumstances. It is important you understand strict criteria apply and we recommend you obtain legal advice before making a disclosure to one of these people.

For more information about the Australian whistleblower laws (including how to make a disclosure directly to ASIC or the ATO), see the information available on the ASIC website (including Information Sheet 239 How ASIC handles whistleblower reports) and the ATO website.

If you are an officer, employee or contractor of the Group based outside Australia, you may also have protections and obligations under the whistleblower laws in the country in which you are based.

12. Non-compliance with this Policy

Any breach of this Policy by an officer, employee or contractor will be taken seriously by the Group and may be the subject of a separate investigation and/or disciplinary action.

A breach of this Policy may also amount to a civil or criminal contravention under the Australian whistleblower laws, giving rise to significant penalties.

We encourage you to raise any concerns about non-compliance with this Policy with the Whistleblower Protection Officer in the first instance. You can also lodge any concerns to ASIC or the ATO for investigation.

13. Policy review

This Policy must be reviewed by the Board or its delegated committee with the assistance of the Whistleblower Protection Officer at least every two years to ensure it is operating effectively. Any recommended changes must be approved by the Board or its delegated committee.

The Company Secretary (and, so long as there are two, either one of them) is authorised to make administrative and non-material amendments to this Policy provided that any such amendments are notified to the Board or its delegated committee at or before its next meeting.
